ABOUT WIDELITY

Widality is a professional services and business consulting company that provides a full spectrum of services to its clients.

OUR COMMITMENT

Our customers come first, as we are focused on delivering value and quality service to our customers in the design and deployment of technologies that meet the needs and requirements of today's changing business environment. We pride ourselves in designing solutions that not only support today's demands, but that also accommodate future demands as our customers grow their business.

Network & Supply Chain Management

Logistics plays an increasingly critical role in complex distribution-oriented industries. A logistics planning framework for the management of materials, procurement, services, information and capital is essential for any organization concerned with costs.

Widality solutions provide the resources and strategic solutions designed to meet all of their logistics needs. Treating products and materials as a continuous process from concept to installation significantly reduces the risk of logistics failures due to "handoffs" between functional areas.

Cross functional collaboration is the key to a smooth supply chain process. Supply chain inefficiencies often seriously impact timelines, deliverables, launch plans, customer relationships, and costs.

A successful logistics strategy must be aligned with the business goals and deployment expectations to assure timely success and consistent business improvement and growth. Failure to plan means planning to fail...

Supply chain logistics is always an expensive part of a business delivery strategy (and often the Achilles heel). The Widely logistics process is uniquely designed to limit your organization's exposure to logistical risk and failure. By first ensuring execution-level operations are tied to strategic-level priorities, and by initiating a monitoring program in the key risk areas, we can create a feedback loop to help anticipate issues before they impact critical time lines. At Widely, we can assure you that the right products will be at the right place at the right time.

Many considerations go into a successful logistics operation. Widely personnel have a deep experience base with logistics issues around the world. Our team understands how to analyze processes, identify key risk situations, propose and implement concrete solutions, and monitor compliance.

Logistics is a balancing act involving tradeoffs in many key areas of an organization. Planning, cost, time, inventory, and resources often place conflicting demands on logistics. Widely can help you understand the value of the tradeoffs facing your day-to-day logistics operations to maximize customer satisfaction.

Our Focus & Expertise

Widely is uniquely positioned to offer flexibility to landlords, tenants and carriers. We provide options designed to meet the most demanding business case:

- Purchasing Component and raw materials acquisition, in-bound logistics, vendor management
- Manufacturing materials management, production services, facility management
- Marketing & Sales Forecasting, packaging and design, merchandising, promotions, sales channels
- Distribution Warehousing, inventory management, compliance, transportation, customs, regulatory
- Training Using a three-step program customized based on needs to provide personnel the required skill sets to enable them to effectively and efficiently manage dynamic logistics processes.
